

reddot design award winner 2008 Outstanding Design

Since 1955 the Design Center North Rhine Westphalia has recognized internationally outstanding product designs with its popular Red Dot Award: Product Design.* The awarded products, such as the Schimmel piano C 116 Modern in 2008, stand for extraordinary innovation in form and function.

Sometimes less is more: That is how the new model C 116 Modern, designed in cooperation with two designers, makes a statement. The first instruments of this style were made in the early 20th century. New production methods and materials – such as the aluminum which forms a counterpart of the polished ebony finish – and the absolute reduction to a minimum create the feeling of purism. The focus on the vertical line lets this model seem to be much taller than it is.
